ELIZABETH BAUER

Layers of color, pattern, and texture define Elizabeth's delightfully modern take on traditional design. The native New Yorker pairs antiques with flea-market treasures and mixes pieces from different time periods for accessible design with an attitude.

MEG BRAFF

Hailing from Mississippi, this Southern transplant has established herself as an Uptown girl, with high-society clients in Manhattan, as well as Palm Beach and Newport. Meg makes them feel at home—infusing classic designs with saturated color and lively patterns.

PAUL CORRIE

Paul's interiors may well be the ones that they tip the scale when it comes to edited, contemporary design. He mixes tradition with layers of texture and patina—spot on the radar of Uptown.

ONDINE KARADY

As a set decorator for HBO's Sex and the City, Ondine kitted out homes for the iconic quartet. Now her real-life clients are Hollywood celebs, journalists, and D.C. pundits, who applaud her elegant eccentricity. With mid-century and custom pieces, her spaces are always inventive.

GARROW KEDIGIAN

Tailored. Architectural. Garrow's interiors reflect his roots. After attending McGill University's Architecture program and working with interior designer William Hodgins, Garrow opened his own firm in 2002. His designs are understated, sophisticated, and intricately beautiful.

KELLY LAPLANTE

From Victorian to ultra-modern, Kelly LaPlante has created a beautiful environment for her clients. In the process of creating a new standard, not a style, she has a line of chic yet sustainable furniture.

JULIE DODSON

With a design degree from Ole Miss, Julie worked for several high-end Houston design firms before joining forces in 2003 with her mother, Trisha Dodson, as Dodson & Daughter Interiors. Julie's understated elegance with a touch of glam hails from Old Hollywood.

MARSHALL ERB

You'd never guess it—Marshall Erb may be young, but he creates traditional interiors that belie that youth. His in-depth knowledge of the three A's—antiques, artwork, and architecture—enable him to create timeless interiors with a clean-lined, edited appeal.

KATIE LEEDE

Creativity flows freely for this native Texan, who was a hat designer and actor before starting her interiors firm in 2001. Art, antiques, and exotic textiles abound in Katie's projects, enlivening old-world style and warming modern spaces.

MASSUCCO, WARNER, MILLER

You could call this trio the "Charlie's Angels" of interior design, but they're actually quite down to earth—despite heavenly residential projects from Washington, D.C., to the Pacific Northwest. Julie Massucco, Melissa Warner, and Carrie Miller create classically grounded designs that buzz with energy.
